

About the Com Center

■ Overview of facility

The Com-Center is an Aisin Group exhibition hall built in 2015 to mark the 50th anniversary of the establishment of Aisin Seiki and the Aisin Group.

In addition to presenting the history of the Aisin Group, the hall exhibits key Aisin Group products as they have evolved over the years, and gives an overview of the Group's growth and evolution, comprehensive strengths, and advanced, innovative technologies.

The building will be environmentally friendly, with an energy-efficient solar power generation system and Aisin's own cutting-edge energy-related products, including gas heat pump (GHP) air conditioning and a gas cogeneration system.

※The new Com-Center is a replacement for an earlier exhibition hall that opened in 2001.
